What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that websites save to your device or browser’s memory. When you visit the Website, to make it work effectively we use cookies and similar technologies.

Below we use the word “cookies” for both cookies and other similar technologies which also rely on information stored on your computer or mobile device.

Please see Further Information On Cookies below for links that provide more details about cookies, including how to manage them with your browser settings.

We use two types of cookies: Strictly necessary and Optional

Strictly necessary cookies

Some of the cookies we use are essential to operate the Website. Unless your browser settings block cookies we will automatically set these essential cookies on your device.

Please see Further Information On Cookies below for links that provide details of how to block cookies with your browser settings.

The table below lists the essential cookies we use as well as explaining what they do and how long they will stay on your device.

| Name | Purpose | Expiry |
|----------------------------|--|---------|
| AWSALBCORS | This cookie is managed by AWS and is used for load balancing. | 7 Days |
| __RequestVerificationToken | This is an anti-forgery cookie set by web applications built using ASP.NET MVC technologies. It is designed to stop unauthorised posting of content to a website, known as Cross-Site Request Forgery. It holds no information about the user and is destroyed on closing the browser. | Session |
| AWSALB | AWS ELB application load balancer | 7 Days |
| ASP.NET_SessionId | General purpose platform session cookie, used by sites written with Microsoft .NET based technologies. Usually used to maintain an anonymised user session by the server. | Session |

Performance

We also use the performance cookies in the table below to measure website analytics and performance. We will only use these cookies if you consent to them when you first visit the website.

| Name | Purpose | Expiry |
|------------------------------|--|---------|
| _hjTLDDTest | When the Hotjar script executes we try to determine the most generic cookie path we should use, instead of the page hostname. This is done so that cookies can be shared across subdomains (where applicable). To determine this, we try to store the _hjTLDDTest cookie for different URL substring alternatives until it fails. After this check, the cookie is removed. | Session |
| _hjIncludedInSessionSample | This cookie is set to let Hotjar know whether that visitor is included in the data sampling defined by your site's daily session limit. | Session |
| _hjid | Hotjar cookie. This cookie is set when the customer first lands on a page with the Hotjar script. It is used to persist the random user ID, unique to that site on the browser. This ensures that behaviour in subsequent visits to the same site will be attributed to the same user ID. | Session |
| _hjAbsoluteSessionInProgress | This cookie is used by HotJar to detect the first pageview session of a user. This is a True/False flag set by the cookie. | Session |
| _hjFirstSeen | Identifies a new user's first session on a website, indicating whether or not Hotjar's seeing this user for the first time. | Session |
| _hjIncludedInPageviewSample | This cookie is set to let Hotjar know whether that visitor is included in the data sampling defined by your site's pageview limit. | Session |

Functionality

| Name | Purpose | Expiry |
|------------------|--|---------|
| lidc | This is a Microsoft MSN 1st party cookie that ensures the proper functioning of this website. | Session |
| ajs_anonymous_id | These cookies are generally used for Analytics and help count how many people visit a certain site by tracking if you have visited before. This cookie has a lifespan of 1 year. | Session |

Marketing

| Name | Purpose | Expiry |
|--------------------|---|----------|
| UserMatchHistory | This cookie is used to track visitors so that more relevant ads can be presented based on the visitor's preferences. | Session |
| _ga | This cookie name is associated with Google Universal Analytics - which is a significant update to Google's more commonly used analytics service. This cookie is used to distinguish unique users by assigning a randomly generated number as a client identifier. It is included in each page request in a site and used to calculate visitor, session and campaign data for the sites analytics reports. By default it is set to expire after 2 years, although this is customisable by website owners. | 730 Days |
| _gid | This cookie name is associated with Google Universal Analytics. This appears to be a new cookie and as of Spring 2017 no information is available from Google. It appears to store and update a unique value for each page visited. | 1 Day |
| _gat_UA-11735642-1 | This is a pattern type cookie set by Google Analytics, where the pattern element on the name contains the unique identity number of the account or website it relates to. It appears to be a variation of the _gat cookie which is used to limit the amount of data recorded by Google on high traffic volume websites. | Session |
